About the Curing Retinal Blindness Foundation (CRBF):

The CRBF is a 501(c)(3) non profit organization. The families in our foundation have a family member (mostly children) that is blind or visually impaired due to mutations in the CRB1 gene causing a rare genetic disease, a degenerative retinal disease. This rare disease has caused some of the affected members to lose almost 100% of their sight. Many still have some useable vision, but it will deteriorate if nothing is done to stop the degeneration. Our mission is to fund research and move to a cure for CRB1 degenerative retinal disease as soon as possible.

The Curing Retinal Blindness Foundation is a 100% volunteer organization.
